

Seeking Input for Coaching and Officiating Development Survey

16 August 2024 - Curling Australia (CA) is seeking to develop a tailored coaching and officials development framework aimed at fostering the growth and development of Curling in Australia.

Recognising the importance of high-quality coaching and officiating in nurturing talent and driving participation through competitive and non-competitive programs, CA aims to establish structured coaching and officials learning programs, certification processes, and resources to empower coaches and officials at all levels.

By enhancing coaching and officiating capabilities and providing support for both grassroots development and the high-performance environment, CA seeks to expand access to curling, cultivate a culture of excellence, and strengthen the foundation of the sport in Australia.

In designing and applying this framework, it is recognised any approach must be multi-faceted and leverage an existing suite of course offerings considered at both the World Curling and a National level through the Australian Sports Commission.

The purpose of this survey is to generate thoughts and opinions from individuals from within the communities of interest in Australia who have interest specific to curling in Australia or, more broadly, have interest in the development of coaches and officials from an Australian sports context.

We hope as well through this survey to generate a list of interested parties who may want to provide their expertise and insights to this project. All responses will remain confidential.

We thank you in advance for your time in providing your thoughts and opinions.

This survey is open until 5pm AEST 3rd September 2024. Follow this link to complete the survey.
